SPACE: CHOOSE YOUR OWN ADVENTURE

You learned about and practiced 1 point perspective, 2 point perspective, showing space in a landscape, and using negative space. It's time to choose how you will use space in a work of art!

CHOOSE YOUR OWN ADVENTURE

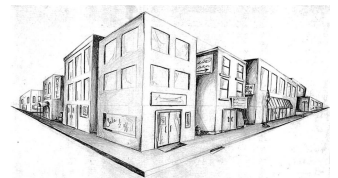

1. 1 Point Perspective

- Name
 - Draw your name in block letters and use 1 point perspective to make them 3D. Color or shade them to create highlights and shadows which will make them look EVEN MORE 3D.
- Landscape
 - Draw a landscape or cityscape using 1 point perspective. Add lots of details!
- Shapes
 - Draw lots of shapes around your paper then use 1 point perspective to make them "zoom" into the vanishing point in the center.

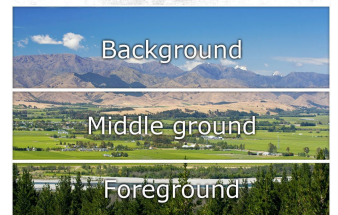

2. 2 Point Perspective

- Draw multiple boxes above, below, and crossing the horizon line. Shade the boxes with one side dark, one medium, and one light, keeping your light source consistent.
- Use 2 point perspective to design a city block with multiple buildings.
- Draw something "built" out of boxes using 2 point perspective.

3. Landscape

- Use layers and overlapping to create a landscape with a sense of space allowing you to see into the distance. Remember things that are further away are smaller and higher up on the picture plane.

4. Negative Space Design

- Draw the shape of something (or multiple somethings that belong together) and fill the negative space with designs instead of the positive space.
